Submitting a book proposal

We are interested in knowing why you are excited about your book idea, why Unity House should publish it, and why readers will want to buy it. Unity House requires the submission of a proposal of five to 10 pages and a sample of writing. We recommend that prospective authors read How to Write a Book Proposal by Michael Larsen (Sourcebooks) for guidance and instructions. Our own specific guidelines for sending us book ideas are as follows. Please include the following in your proposal:

- Cover page: Please provide your name, address, phone number, e-mail address, and the date.
- A one-to-two-page overview of the book: This should include the subject hook, special features, markets for the book, existing competitive and complementary books.
- State of compatibility: Why you feel Unity House is the appropriate publisher.
- Statement of your platform:
 - Numbers of monthly speaking engagements
 - Average number of attendees per engagement
 - Newsletter reach
 - Web presence and reach
 - Extent of platform – provide cities and states where you speak and validate whether you have a local, regional, national or international constituency

 - A list of existing media contacts and connections
- A half-page promotion plan: List the five or six most significant things that you will do to promote your book, such as:
 - The number of talks you will continue to give in a year

 - Any additional resources that would help promote your book
- Outline: Provide a two-page table-of-contents for your book, including short paragraphs about what each chapter will include.
 - Length and schedule: Estimate the length of the book (at least 200 pages at 250 words per page, or 45,000 words) and provide a date of completion.
 - Author profile: A one-page bio describing your experience with your topic and as a writer and/or author. Why you are the person to write this book and list where you have been published in the past (i.e. magazine articles, previous books). Include a Web link, if available.

The most successful authors know that it is not enough to write a book. One must also partner with the publisher to promote it. If your background has prepared you for the task and you have a great idea for a book that reflects Unity spiritual principles in a positive and inspiring way, we look forward to reviewing your proposal.

Please submit three copies of your proposal to:

Remember to include a self-addressed postage-paid envelope with your work if you would like Unity to return unpublished work to you. Unselected works that are submitted without these items will not be returned.

We will acknowledge receipt of your proposal within 30 days of submission. If we select your work, we will contact you within 90 days to discuss further.

Thank you for your interest in Unity House!
